

DIVISION OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
JANCO TRAVEL GRANTS
2009-10

The division is pleased to announce the Agnes and Nathan Janco Travel Grants to support short-term dissertation research projects.

Terms

The Janco Travel Grants will support dissertation research-related travel by advanced graduate students. Grants, up to a maximum of $2,000 but most smaller, will be awarded for academic year 2009-2010, beginning with the summer quarter. The awards are designed to help defray the costs of travel for students who have a specific research goal critical to their dissertations.

Eligibility

Advanced students in any of the Social Sciences Ph.D. programs may apply. To be eligible for consideration, a student must have been admitted to Ph.D. candidacy by the tenure of the grant, and preferably by the time of application, and must complete the research project no later than May 1, 2010.

Application

Application forms are available online at: <http://socialsciences.uchicago.edu/current/forms.shtml>. Applications must be submitted to the Dean of Students office in Foster 107 by no later than May 1 for support of travel planned for academic year 2009-2010. The application includes a statement (maximum length: 1000 words) that describes the purpose of the travel and its relation to the student's dissertation work, a C.V. and a detailed itinerary and budget. The student must also see that a supporting letter from the principal dissertation advisor that addresses specifically the proposed travel is received by the Dean of Students by the May 1 deadline. Awardees will submit a brief report upon completion of their travel grant.

About the Janco Travel Award

This award is made possible by a gift from Joel Janco in honor of Agnes and Nathan Janco in recognition of their love of travel and exploration, their compassion for others, and implacable dedication to science and the arts.

For further information, please contact Assistant Dean of Students, Kelly Therese Pollock, at kpollcock@uchicago.edu or at 773-795-3238.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: May 1, 2009. Late applications will not be accepted.
